Two UConn Students Receive Forensic Accounting Services Scholarships

(Glastonbury, CT) Donna Bramlett of Coventry, CT, a sophomore at the University of Connecticut, and Victoria Reagan, a University of Connecticut freshman from Middletown, New York were this year's winners of the Forensic Accounting Services scholarships. They each received a $500 scholarship provided by Stephen Pedneault, founder and principal of Forensic Accounting Services LLC of Glastonbury at the UConn School of Business annual awards banquet held at the Storrs campus this month.

Pedneault, who teaches an online course in forensic accounting through UConn in the summer and the fall, provided the scholarships to accounting majors who showed promise and passion for the forensic accounting field.

"I am pleased to have an opportunity to help young people who want to pursue a future in forensic accounting," Pedneault said. "Supporting bright young people today will ensure future quality in the profession and I am proud to be part of that."

Ms. Bramlett and Ms. Reagan are outstanding students and were selected by a panel of judges at UConn's School of Business. They are both exploring a host of opportunities available to them at the School of Business but have a strong penchant for the forensic accounting field.

Stephen Pedneault is a CPA, certified fraud examiner, certified in financial forensics and a forensic certified public accountant. He is the principal and founder of Forensic Accounting Services LLC in Glastonbury, specializing in financial investigations to uncover fraud and embezzlement; provides litigation support; assists with matrimonial and probate financial disclosures. His book, Fraud 101, Third Edition, published by Wiley Press, will be available in September, 2009. For more information, visit www.forensicaccountingservices.com.
